The Recitals will commence punctually at half-past Eight, at which hour visitors are requested to be sented. Late arrivals must enter during the intervals between the various selections, and on no account during a recital. This rule is imperative, and will be strictly enforced, sran at a permisery sacrifice, since it is indisposable for the comfort of both the entertained and the entertainer.

The programme will be varied each evening, unless by special desire some admired recitation be remanded.

PRICES OF ADMISSION—Dress Circle $1.56; all other party of the house $1.60.
